Contents

Premiers of Victoria ix
Contributors xi
Acknowledgements xiii

Chapter 1
Introduction: Premiers and politics, 1856-2006 1
Paul Strangio and Brian Costar

Chapter 2
Haines, O' Shanassy, Nicholson and Heales: The old guard, 1855-1863 12
John Waugh

Chapter 3
"The inevitable McCulloch" and his rivals, 1863-1877 30
John Waugh

Chapter 4
Broken heads and flaming houses: Graham Berry, the wild colonial 51
Paul Strangio

Chapter 5
Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde?
Service and Gillies: The grand coalition premiers 1883-1890 74
John Lack

Chapter 6
David Syme and the three stooges? The bust premiers:
James Munro, William Shiels and JB Patterson, 1890-1894 94
John Lack

Chapter 7
The quiet little man in a brown suit:
George Turner and the politics of consensus 109
John Rickard

Chapter 8
"Iceberg" Irvine and the politics of anti-Labor 119
John Rickard

Chapter 9
Tommy Bent, "a man" 127
Weston Bate
Chapter 10
John Murray and William Watt: The odd couple
David Dunstan

Chapter 11
Alexander Peacock: The laughing pragmatist
John Chesterman

Chapter 12
Harry Lawson, sure and steady
Margaret Fitzherbert

Chapter 13
Elmslie, Prendergast and Hogan: Labouring against the tide
Peter Love

Chapter 14
John Allan: The first agrarian
Brian Costar

Chapter 15
William McPherson: “Threepenny” premier and philanthropist
Richard Allsop

Chapter 16
Stanley Argyle: The incidental premier
Geoff Browne

Chapter 17
Albert Dunstan: The jumping jack premier
Brian Costar

Chapter 18
Tom Hollway: The bohemian
Brian Costar

Chapter 19
John McDonald: A remorseful premier
Brian Costar

Chapter 20
John Cain snr: The star-crossed premier
Paul Strangio

Chapter 21
Henry Bolte: The lucky developer
David Dunstan

Chapter 22
Rupert “Dick” Hamer: The urbane liberal
Paul Rodan